2. Section 5-2 of the Scope of Work requires resumes on the Project Manager, Supervisors and Mechanics. Are the incumbent personnel not classified as Operating Engineers rather than Mechanics? Why are resumes needed down to this level?

Answer: We need resumes for all people who are going to work on the contract.

3. Is the contractor to provide their own dumpster for removal of all of their refuse?

Answer: Yes

4. Is a boiler watch required on nights and/or weekends during the heating season?

Answer: Not a boiler watch, but a boiler tour, daily, during the heating season.

Answer: No

Answer: No. You must perform any work on the switch gear after normal duty hours.

7. Since there are no deduct tables, or penalties, what prevents a contractor from not performing high cost maintenance items, such as switch gear calibration or sprinkler system certification?

Answer: You are required to have these items completed and supply reports verifying same. If these items are not done, GSA will contract with someone else to have it done and deduct the cost from the O&M contractor's monthly payment, to include administrative costs.

8. Since this building is very old, can you please provide historical data on the annual cost for repairs and annual cost for materials, we understand it is very high?

Answer: I don't believe this to be true. Because this building underwent a major renovation just five years ago, I believe the costs are relatively low; however, there isn't time to research and present you with the historical data requested.
